Dear Friends of MUW,

We are writing with exciting news! The availability of quality childcare in our region may expand, thanks to Senator Jeanne Shaheen and a Childcare Expansion collaboration between Keene State College, MUW's Impact Monadnock, The Keene Family YMCA, Keene Day Care Center, Winchester Learning Center, and Rise for baby and family.

This Childcare Expansion initiative aims to attract, retain, and train childcare workers in our region. It has passed the first hurdle in the new congressionally directed funding process. If the funding is fully approved, the region will be getting $1 million dollars to fund this important initiative for our local families.

It's perfect timing, too. Covid-19 has exposed many weaknesses in the childcare system, one of which is the severe shortage of qualified workers in this area. This shortage means that, potentially, there will not be enough workers at quality childcare agencies to serve all the families and children in the Monadnock Region.

For more information on this, please read this article that was recently published in The Keene Sentinel and the press release from Senator Jeanne Shaheen's office.

If approved, this funding will have a big impact on the future of childcare in our region. And supporting our neighbors doesn't stop there!

Families still need help sending their children to quality childcare agencies and your gifts to MUW's Stronger Together Campaign help make this possible by providing tuition assistance to our partner agencies. And, as winter approaches, your gifts will ensure that your neighbors have food, shelter, and heat.

Sincerely,
Danya Landis, Karen Peterson, Beth Wood
